About Organimal

Wild nature animals rarely get sick. Our pets, on the other hand, all the more often. Our chemical, toxic and stressful environment form the basis for this. So how come we are we looking for the solution in the same environment? Let nature solve it!

Benefit from the 4000 years of knowledge of herbs and formulas from all over the world. Healthiness as it should be! Organimal is fully committed to optimum health for our beloved pets. Realizing that pets cannot choose how they want to heal themselves and keep themselves healthy, Organimal aims to provide maximum support to owners to make the best choices for their pets. With a view to current mainstream medicine, which often focuses on symptoms, we focus primarily on causes. With this we offer an additional alternative, without the problems of short-term solutions and undesirable side effects.

In our opinion, the only good approach to optimal health is a "holistic" one, which means that we include all aspects of (mental) health. As we know, not only food but also factors such as stress, exercise and air quality play a major role in animal health. Organimal has more than 20 years of experience in the field of Eastern and Western herbs in combination with veterinary medicine. We offer natural, effective supplements complemented with relevant knowledge to support optimum health. Our concentrated formulas are naturally based, free from chemical additives, without unnecessary fillers and completely safe to use.
